

Product Overview

Product Overview

D.A.T.A. Parametric Access Library is a component selection database designed to provide information on more than one million integrated circuits, discrete semiconductors, and optoelectronic devices.

Database Inquiries provide electronic access to:

Detailed component information, including

- Parametric values
- Graphical displays of device pinouts and electrical connections
- Graphical displays of device package styles and/or outline drawings

Manufacturer contact information, including distributors

See Also

Flexible Electronic Inquiries

Subscription and Update Information

Product Support

Product Support

If you are unable to find an answer to a question you may have about this product after referencing Help or the Installation and QuickStart Guide, our Customer Service Departments will assist.

IHS® Customer Services:

In the USA and Canada

In Europe

All Other Areas